Re: Mr Ian Montgomery

To whom it may concern

It gives me great pleasure to provide a reference to Mr Ian Montgomery, whom I have had the opportunity of working with over a number of years

I first worked with Ian in Ireland where his guidance, leadership and knowledge was absolutely essential not only to the growth of a successful cargo sales business, but also his commercial acumen was something that I have valued throughout my career in the aviation industry.

Ian has an ability to identify and execute robust commercial strategies, which other people would see as very difficult and his ability to gain buy in and support from his peers is excellent.

Ian's reputation in the industry is second to none, and I have had, over the past 15 years, the opportunity to work with Ian on many projects, all of which have been very successful

I would have no hesitation in recommending Ian to any organisation and would be an extremely valuable asset to any business he enters. He leads by example, develops not only business but people too and is one of the most reliable people I have had the pleasure to work with.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require any further information

Sincerely
